SHOWJUMPING CLINICS

WITH

Tim Page is a talented 21 year old show jumper from Bury St Edmunds.

Since the age of 12 he's been involved with showjumping, quickly progressing through the ranks as a teenager. At 19 he represented Great Britain on a Senior Nation's Cup team and was also part of the Young Rider team that same year. He's also represented the country at two under 21 European Championships.

2010 finished on a particular high for Tim, who spends much of his time competing Internationally and in the UK, after he qualified for the U23 British Championship class at Olympia.

This year has already got off to a fantastic start as he has just been re-selected onto the British Equestrian Federation's UK Sport funded World Class Development Programme – which works with talented riders to maximise their potential and deliver success. Tim's top rides include; Quentin Tarrantino, Wyoming and Unna VII all owned by Trevor Sturman, together with Hopkins who is owned by David McPherson.

As well as receiving support from the World Class Programme Tim is also sponsored by Honeychop Horse Feeds and Clarkes of Walsham.
